We don't have earthquakes any more in California—sometimes. At about 3:15 on Thursday last some peculiar vibrations of the earth's surface were felt throughout this part of the country very similar to what has formerly been known as such.

There is no doubt but Santa Clara county has as balmy a climate as any in the state, yet, one of those little coal, wood or oil heaters at Whitman's Hardware will help you wonderfully in enjoying these fall and winter evenings. Call in and C. H. will be delighted to show them to you.

W. L. Woodrow.

We would like to call the attention of our readers to the card of W. L. Woodrow which will be found in another column. Mr. Woodrow is so well known about Campbell that it is hardly necessary for us to say that he has one of the oldest and most complete undertaking establishments in San Jose and that he can be relied upon to give the very best of service.

Married.

A quiet wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Coates, on Wednesday last at 2 P. M., their daughter, Miss Charlotta Willett and Charles A. Sutter, being united in the holy bonds of matrimony in the presence of the nearest relatives of the bride. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Wm. Windsor of Campbell. The happy couple took their departure immediately after the wedding for San Francisco to remain a few days. Miss Willett is a native of Santa Clara county having lived in the vicinity of Campbell all her life, while Mr. Sutter came to our community very soon after the town began its existence and both have the best wishes of a host of friends in their happy alliance.

A Bucking Broncho.

The Preston boys have a pony which has proven itself a first-class bucker. Last Monday one of the boys made a very rash agreement with a certain expert rider, agreeing to give him the pony if he would ride it home. The rider took up the very liberal offer and jumping on the pony was soon out of sight around the corner. But the pony was only encouraging him a little, it would seem, for a few minutes later it came trotting home minus the rider who was left to pick himself up on First street. He fell rather hard no doubt but How(h)ard we are not prepared to say. His injuries are not serious.

J. T. Wehmeyer.

In another column will be seen a card calling attention to the business of J. F. Wehmeyer, who has lately engaged in the blacksmith business in Campbell. Mr. Wehmeyer, though a young man has had much experience in general blacksmithing and asks for a share of the public patronage. Give him a trial. His work is guaranteed.

One man is as good as a million, when he stands for a great truth, and is clothed with its authority and majesty.

The Bloody Ballot.

"Father in Heaven! Thy Kingdom Come!"
This is the prayer we Christians pray;
And yet we vote the demon Rum
Over thy Kingdom sovereign sway.

"No drunkard ever enters here!"
Sounds forth from Heaven its fearful knell;
And yet we vote, from year to year,
To plunge the drunkard down to Hell!

By votes we run the Devil's Still!
By votes we kill God's living grain!
By vote the drunkard's cup we fill,
And doom him to eternal pain!

Who cast those votes? Thou, voter; thou!
Thy ballot damns these drunken souls!
Thy brother's blood is on it now;
Dropped, red and recking at the polls!

—Clark's Reform Song Book.

The very first glimpse that a stranger gets of an Eastern or Western city as he alights from the train and emerges from the depot is a long line of saloons stretching block after block. The first odor he inhales is the fetid breath that issues from the gaping maw of the destroying monster, the saloon. Young and old, rich and poor, high and low, are drawn into this voracion throat, and night and day the open mouth gapes for more victims. Here is the book that tells where the money of American laborers goes, countless millions which are spent by the working men of our land for drink.

If the money spent by wage earners for liquor were kept for home building, enough would be saved in a few years to put a roof over the heads of every working man's family between Maine and California. The saloon is the cause of more strikes than are capitalists. The saloon keeper is a worse tyrant over laborers in this land than any other man can be. All the conbines that can be formed cannot rob the wage earner as heartlessly and systematically as the rum seller does. We want a strike against the great American dictator—the Saloon. Such a strike would result in unparalleled prosperity to the industries of the working classes of the land if it were wide-spread and continuous.—Central Christian Advocate.

Stockton saloon-keepers have decided to obey the new liquor ordinance. The law provides that all saloons shall be open only from 7 A. M. to 9 P. M. daily and shall be closed entirely on Sunday.

FIRE APPARATUS.

Now that we are agitating the question of fire apparatus in Campbell, the following from the Popular Science Monthly with regard to that of the early American settlers will be of interest:

"The early settlers in America paid no attention to protecting themselves against fire, and the different colonies had grown into fair sized communities with several industries well established before taking any steps in that direction. The earliest mention of a definite method of fire protection was made at Salem, Mass., in 1644, when each inhabitant was ordered to be supplied with a ladder under penalty of a fine of 5 shillings. These ladders were undoubtedly made in Salem or in the immediate vicinity, and one might readily say that here began an American industry that is now carried on so extensively in many places and under a multitude of different forms. In 1648 four fire wardens were appointed in New York city. These men passed a law to fine every one whose chimney became foul or whose house was burned by his own carelessness. The money so obtained was to be used in the purchase of ladders, hooks and buckets. These were not provided, however, until some years later.

Boston also took steps in this direction, and on the first day of the twelfth month of 1653, or, by the modern method of computation, on February 1, 1654, the following entry is found in the town records:

"The selectmen have power and liberty hereby to agree with Joseph Jynks for Ingins to Carry water in Case of fire if they see Cause soe to doe.'"

THE VISITOR AS AN ADVERTISING MEDIUM.

That the VISITOR has great value as an advertising medium will not be questioned by those who know the class of people among whom it circulates. The citizens of Campbell and the country tributary thereto are very widely known as the most prosperous and enterprising people of the banner county of the State. They are a thrifty people, not given to extravagance, but as a rule able to buy and pay for what they need. The merchants who secure their trade get their best customers. The VISITOR, being the only local paper, is by far the best means of reaching and securing their trade and no where will your advertising bring you better returns for the money invested. Write for rates to the CAMPBELL WEEKLY VISITOR, Campbell, Cal.

THE Chinese, it is reported, have been going back to their native land in large numbers lately, and no one seems to feel badly about it, strange to say. It is to hoped that they will find plenty to do to keep them there.

EVERY town of any size in the county has a fire department except ours. This is because we don't have fires in Campbell. But we may see the town burned down one of these days in spite of this fact.

SANTA CLARA county needs another overland railroad. In two years the fruit crop will be almost double what it is now, and if rates are low enough so that our producers can ship their fruit at reasonable rates a market can be found, although it may be at a less price, until a demand is created.—Ex.

THE street work should receive new impetus since the late rain as the ground has been softened up so it is much easier to work. The curbs should all be laid at once as far as the street has been surveyed. The stakes may pull out and it will then be difficult to give the curbing its proper elevation.

A VETERNARY INSPECTOR was appointed in San Jose recently and he began his work last Friday by making some startling discoveries with reference to the condition of meat and slaughter houses. Such an officer will prove most valuable in aiding to secure for the people healthy meats and the appointment should be received with much satisfaction.

AN English traveler has written a very interesting account of how he took photographs with a kodak in the interior of the great Pyramid of Cheops in Egypt. By means of a flash light and his kodak a very good picture was taken of the sarcophagus of one of the ancient kings of Egypt. The chamber in the interior of the pyramid is densely dark, but a little ingenuity with science, overcomes darkness.—Santa Ana Blade.

AN exchange has the following to say of the sunflower:

The common Sunflower is coming into prominence throughout the world. In Russia, India and China it is raised for the seed and is fed to farm animals and poultry. Oil is pressed from the seed and used instead of linseed oil. In its refined state it is fast taking the place of olive oil. It takes a bushel of seed to make a gallon of oil. In India the seed is made into bread. The stalks are used for fuel, while cheap cigars and cigarettes are manufactured from the leaves.

FROM the comments in San Jose papers we judge that halloween was observed with unusual enthusiasm in the county seat. The fact of it is that it was carried a little too far and those who suffered from the depredations would be justified in causing arrests. Some of the residents of Campbell are of the opinion that there was considerable enthusiasm put into the observance at our town but it was as nothing compared to other places, though bad enough.

A NUMBER of the county dependents usually confined in the jail are just now being used in making a road near Berryessa. The guards say they have no trouble keeping them at it and that most of them seem to prefer to work for the county this way than to escape and rustle their living after the usual fashion. Many of them would, no doubt, make the best of citizens were they not slaves to the drink habit and when placed under guard where they can not indulge in the usual spree become faithful workers.

A BRIGHT young business man called at our sanctum this week with "copy" for an ad. and while, here made this remark, with reference to advertising. "Whether or not, I received any direct benefit from advertisements, I feel that the newspapers boom the town, induce people to settle here and thus add to my business and I therefore feel it my duty to support them." If all business men were as sensible and as honorable as this business man, not only the newspapers, but all other business would soon be on the high road to prosperity.—Los Gatos Mail.

IT seems that a great railway building boom has taken possession of the country. Railroads are talked of every place and if half of them are built there will be considerable building in that line. A proposed line along the coast from San Francisco to Santa Cruz is being surveyed and the projectors claim that work will begin very soon on the grading. The Valley road in the San Joaquin is being put down quite rapidly and the San Jose and Alviso road seems still to be a long way off. Newark is bidding for the terminal of the latter road and if arrangements are not made at Alviso soon it may go to Newark.

THE publisher of a paper has one thing to sell and another to rent. He has the newspaper to sell and the space in his columns to rent. Can anyone imform us why he should be expected to give away either one or the other? He can do so if he chooses and he does, as a matter of practical fact, furnish a great deal of space rent free. But it does not follow that he ought to do so. It ought to be recognized as a contribution exactly as would be the giving away of sugar or coffee by the groceryman. But strange to say, it is not looked upon in that light; the existence of a newspaper depends as much on the rent of his space and the sale of his paper as the merchant's success depends on the sale of his goods instead of giving them away.—Ex.

IMPROVE THE CHANNEL.

The Call of San Francisco in a recent issue gives the following very sensible comment on the improvement of the Alviso Channel:

"If Senator White was perfectly correct in reporting this recommendation of the engineers he has given cause for their dismissal from the service for incompetency. Had they been sufficiently intelligent they would have reported that the small amount of traffic passing through the channel was due to the inadequacy of the channel for traffic, and with the putting of it in proper condition would develope a large traffic and multipy the population, industries and prosperities of the Santa Clara Valley.

As it is we shall have to wait until an appropriation is made for a new survey and intelligent report. And it is hoped that competent engineers will be given the task next time and that they will have the wisdom to understand the far-reaching problems involved. If so they will report favorably on an appropriation for the widening and deepening of the channel.

The letting in of coastwise steamers would create such a revolution in the Santa Clara Valley as has never been seen in California. Tortuous and shallow as the channel is at present it has carried such weight with the Southern Pacific Company as to have forced grain rates from $1.60 to $1.20 a ton, and is now saving San Jose alone $100,000 a year in freight.

The California members of Congress will no doubt use all their influence to secure the preliminary appropriation, but in view of the very important interests at stake they will be expected to use extraordinary exertions."

FOR THE WOMEN.

"Nearer to Thee."

I think there are many people who think, without being aware of it, that only the trials and disappointments that we call crosses of this age, can bring them nearer to God. Now, I believe these are all designed to bring us to the source of all good, but I also believe the joys of life are equally designed to bring us nearer to Him from whom all blessings flow, and we ought to be able to say, "So by my joys, I'll be nearer, my God, to thee." I think that much of my life I have feared my earthly joys, my human loves. Maybe the hymns I have sung have had much to do with this. Anyway, I know I have feared my joys. Now, we all know there is a love that casts our fear, and it casts out all fear of joys as well as of sorrows. I well remember a young mother with her first baby on her lap, saying to her minister who had come in to see her as she looked down at the tiny little baby, "Oh, I am afraid I love him too much." The minister bent kindly over the babe as he said, "Poor little thing, all it wants is love, and you cannot give it too much of that." I have often heard people say they feared they loved the human too much, they feared they idolized their loved ones. The most satisfactory definition of idolatry to me has been—worshiping the creature apart from the Creator, cutting the stream from the foundation! Oh, no, you can never have love enough—"love is your weight"—so if you love the human there is all that much more capacity for God to fill. You are more to God.

I am thankful to see people love even a cat or dog. The capacity for loving, that is the needed thing. Now, throw aside all fear, begin to love generously those you love, tell them you love them, and get in the way of thanking God for all He gives you that gives you joy, and let joy in! Make room faster and then you will know that all this joy you must take to Him, for joy is a burden that we must ask Him to help us carry. Have you never felt your joy was too much for you, that you must be strenghtened for it? Ask for strength to bear joy that is on its way to you, for,

"There may be waiting for the coming of your feet,
Some gift of suc i rare bfessedness, some joy, so strangely sweet—
That your lips can only tremble with the thanks they cannot speak."

Only think of having your joy full! I like that word full. There is so much of half-filling that it is refreshing to read that the dear Christ wants our joy to be full.—Ladies' Home Journal.
